THE RED SPOT IN JUPITER.

Yesterday's news falls to earth, pronounced to be a false alarm, as the red spot, viewed with the naked eye or through the telescope. The telescopic view just now, says the Scientific American, is full of excitement. The Prince of Placidia has met with a loss. The "great red spot," 26,033 miles long, and 9,003 or 8,000 miles broad, has almost entirely vanished. The extraordinary phenomenon that has been eagerly and anxiously watched since its appearance in 1878 has nearly disappeared, and cautious observers are little the wiser for the study bestowed upon it. Various opinions prevailed concerning its origin and constitution. Some astronomers think it was an enormous rift in the planet's cloud atmosphere revealing the nucleus beneath. Others think it was a slag or crust formed on the semi-fluid surface of the planet, revolving with it, and now melted down and disappearing. Others think it was a kind of cloud of smoke coming from a long-continued volcanic eruption on the planet underneath. Doubtless new spots will succeed, and some time in the distant future astronomers will decipher their meaning. But the time is not yet.

WEATHER WINDOW.

Some time ago a New Jersey man of science gave the New York Farmers' Club the following weather facts and probabilities:—

1. When the temperature falls suddenly, there is a storm forming south of you.
2. When the temperature rises suddenly, there is a storm forming north of you.
3. The wind always blows from a region of fair weather towards a region where a storm is forming.
4. Cirrus clouds always move from a region where a storm is in progress towards a region of fair weather.
5. Cumulus clouds always move from a region of fair weather towards a region where a storm is forming.
6. When cirrus clouds are moving rapidly from the north or north-west, there will be rain in less than twenty-four hours no matter how cold it may be.
7. When cirrus clouds are moving rapidly from the south or south-east, there will be a cold rainstorm on the morrow, if it be summer; and if it be winter, there will be a snowstorm.
8. The wind always blows in a circle around a storm, and, when it blows from the north, the heaviest rain is east of you; if it blows from the east the heaviest rain is south; if it blows from the west, the heaviest rain is north of you.

LORD LORNE'S TERM OF OFFICE.

A telegram has been sent to the American and Canadian press to the effect that Lord Lorne is said to have expressed a desire that his term of office as Governor General should be extended another year. Lord Lorne was gazetted Governor General of Canada on the 14th October, 1878, consequently the gubernatorial term, which is for six years, although by many it is wrongly placed at five years, will not be completed until October, 1884. Colonial Governors invariably hold office during the pleasure of the Crown, but their period of service in a colony is usually limited to six years from the assumption of their duties therein, although at the discretion of the Crown a governor may be re-appointed for a further term. The rule limiting the term of service to six years was first made applicable to all British colonies in May, 1863, by Colonial Secretary Huxkinson. Canadian governors since Confederation, with terms through which they have served, are as follows:—Lord Monck, from 1st July, 1867, until 3rd November, 1868; Lord Lorne, from November, 1868, until May, 1872; Lord Dufferin from May, 1872, until November, 1878; Lord Dufferin, after having served his full term of six years, was asked and consented to continue office for a few months until his successor was appointed.
